Course description and objectives
INEU 100 is the introductory course for the European concentration of the International Studies Major. It is one of four classes in the major (the other three being INTL 100, INTL 350 and INTL 495) offered directly by the International Studies Program. European countries face a number of challenges to their institutions and identities. These include immigration and the calls to reexamine the nature of citizenship and belonging of minorities; economic pressures of the common currency; the processes of integration and disintegration of the European Union; the memories of the communist and nationalist past. This course will introduce students to major themes in European politics, history, economics, and culture. We will read a wide range of texts from political science and economics to anthropology, geography, sociology, and cultural studies.

By the end of the course students will have a general familiarity and understanding of the following developments:

- the ways in which Europeans define their politics, culture, and society.
- central debates on European liberalism, fascism, socialism, and social democracy.
- the issues of citizenship, minorities, and discrimination in European countries
- challenges and opportunities of the European integration.

The specific learning objectives are:
1. Demonstrate the ability to think critically about European issues by preparing a presentation on current events in a selected European country
2. Recognize and explain through writing alternative narratives of European boundaries
3. Demonstrate the ability to identify a research question based on independent research and prepare a review of the literature on the question
4. Understand the influence of European ideas and political movements
5. To explore and understand the challenges and opportunities of European integration

Expectations and Evaluation
1) Attendance and participation.
Attendance is required. After four unexcused absences I reserve the right to drop you from the roster. This is mostly a lecture-based course but it will require active student participation during class periods. Students will be engaged in class discussions, group work, and short presentations. Students are expected to read the assigned material prior to each class and be ready for active participation in discussions. Please set up an appointment with me to discuss readings strategies if you read the material but can’t retain it.

Participation grading rubric:
0 – You did not attend class and/or used a cell phone/tablet/computer
1 (F) – You arrived substantially late and/or did not participate in class,
2 (C) – You arrived on time, but were distracted during much of the lecture, did not participate in the discussion, and didn’t demonstrate that you had completed the readings.
3 (B) – You took notes through most of the class, participated in the discussion, and demonstrated that you completed the reading assignments.
4 (A) – You asked informed questions about the readings, took notes throughout class, participated in the discussion, and demonstrated that you completed the reading assignments.
2) Quizzes
Reading quizzes will be offered periodically throughout the semester.

3) Current event discussions
During the first week of the semester each student will select one European country and will then follow current events in this country. Each student will give a 4-5 minute presentation on current events in the selected country. Students may report on political, economic, social developments or relations with other countries. It’s not only important to describe what happened but also to explain how and why this matters. You will be expected to have an in-depth knowledge of a recent event or phenomena rather than just a headline, so be prepared to describe and explain what happened and why (remember 5-Ws: who, where, when, what, and why). Be ready for questions from other students. You should avoid using tabloids or random websites. Instead, use one or several major sources - newspapers or magazines suggested below. Choose an interesting and detailed report more than 500 words (1 typed page).

- The Guardian http://www.theguardian.com/world/europe
- The Moscow Times https://themoscowtimes.com
- Der Spiegel, http://www.spiegel.de/international/europe/
- Al Jazeera America http://america.aljazeera.com/topics/topic/international-location/europe.html
- NPR http://www.npr.org/sections/europe/

Participation grading rubric:
0 – You did not do the assignment
1 (F) – You used a tabloid media source to prepare your report, and/or used an article under 500 words.
2 (C) – Your report was not clear and poorly organized, and/or it had little to do with your assigned country.
3 (B) – You delivered a good report but missed one or more of 5-Ws (who, where, when, what, and why), and/or didn’t explore the “so what” question.
4 (A) – You used authoritative media source(s), delivered an informed report on the issue, considered the “so what” question, and tried to link the report to the course material.

4) Literature review
You need to pick a topic of interest, come up with a research question, and examine the literature on this topic in one or more European countries in a 5-6-page paper. How has different literature addressed the research question you are asking? Has this topic been studied in another regional context? Why is this question important? You can treat this as a 5-6-page paper. You may develop a research topic as you read the weekly assignments. Paper topics must be discussed with and approved by the instructor. You can find the guidelines for this assignment in OAKS under Content. Literature reviews are due on December 5 in class. Electronic copies should be uploaded to Dropbox via OAKS.

5) Paper proposal + annotated bibliography
This assignment prepares you for the literature review (see above). A 1-page description of the topic must be submitted by October 14 in class and uploaded to Dropbox via OAKS. This description should clearly state:
- Your research question or puzzle;
- The cases (countries) you examine;
- The importance of the research question.
- An annotated bibliography. See an example in OAKS under Content.

6) Exams
Both midterm and the final exams will be short answers and/or essay question.
7) Model UN
Students will be required to participate in the College of Charleston Model UN representing one of the European countries. You will become a delegate of the country representing its interests and you will need to conduct research on its international relations and foreign policy. In order to do well on this assignment and to become an effective delegate, students will need to do background research on the selected European country (you can select the same country you’ve conducted research for other assignments in this class). Students will need to prepare a Position Paper on a specific topic. Position Papers are due on October 26, 2016. More information on this assignment will be provided in class. The annual College of Charleston Model UN will be held on October 28-29 (Friday 3pm-8pm and Saturday 8am-3pm). Students are responsible for making arrangements in case they have work conflict.

Late submissions
Late submissions will be penalized by 10% per day (including weekends). Assignments more than a week late will receive a “0.” Unexcused failure to show up for an exam will result in a grade of 0% on the exam.

Electronic devices
No electronic devices (cell phones, tablets, or laptops) can be used in class, unless allowed by the instructor. If you have a medical condition which requires to use a laptop, please submit a request through SNAP. I will be glad to accommodate your request once it’s approved by SNAP.

2) Reading quizzes – 15%.

College of Charleston Honor Code and Academic Integrity
Lying, cheating, attempted cheating, and plagiarism are violations of our Honor Code that, when identified, are investigated. Each incident will be examined to determine the degree of deception involved. Incidents where the instructor determines the student’s actions are related more to a misunderstanding will handled by the instructor. A written intervention designed to help prevent the student from repeating the error will be given to the student. The intervention, submitted by form and signed both by the instructor and the student, will be forwarded to the Dean of Students and placed in the student’s file.

Cases of suspected academic dishonesty will be reported directly by the instructor and/or others having knowledge of the incident to the Dean of Students. A student found responsible by the Honor Board for academic dishonesty will receive a XF in the course, indicating failure of the course due to academic dishonesty. This grade will appear on the student’s transcript for two years after which the student may petition for the X to be expunged. The F is permanent. The student may also be placed on disciplinary probation, suspended (temporary removal) or expelled (permanent removal) from the College by the Honor Board.

Students should be aware that unauthorized collaboration--working together without permission--is a form of cheating. Unless the instructor specifies that students can work together on an assignment, quiz and/or test, no collaboration during the completion of the assignment is permitted. Other forms of cheating include possessing or using an unauthorized study aid (which could include accessing information via a cell phone or computer), copying from others’ exams, fabricating data, and giving unauthorized assistance. Research conducted and/or papers written for other classes cannot be used in whole or in part for any assignment in this class without obtaining prior permission from the instructor. Students can find the complete Honor Code and all related processes in the Student Handbook at http://studentaffairs.cofc.edu/honor-system/studenthandbook/index.php

Avoiding Plagiarism
“Plagiarism falls into two categories: using someone else’s words or using someone else’s ideas as if they were your own. You must be scrupulous in avoiding both categories of plagiarism in your writing. Properly cite all quotations, paraphrases, and summaries of information from other sources. The only exception to this rule is common knowledge, or information commonly known and accessible to your audience… If you are unsure whether certain information constitutes common knowledge, document it. Collusion, a form of plagiarism, occurs when two or more people agree to devise a piece of writing that will be attributed to only one of them… For any individual writing assignment, the idea and the organization of ideas in your paper must be your own… You can incorporate into your writing ideas that have arisen from class discussion [and] lectures… You may revise and edit your writing with other people… but you should not have others do your writing or revising for you.”

Changes to Syllabus
I reserve the right to make minor changes to the syllabus during the semester. Any changes will be announced in class and via email (or posted on OAKS).
